Placement Opportunities

The Indian Financial Markets sector is evolving and transforming rapidly. A recent PwC report stated that India is all set “to become the third-largest domestic Financial Services sector by 2050, after China and the US.”

Financial markets is one of the largest employers in the entire spectrum of the BFSI sector with a total of approximate 14.80 lakh people employed directly. The subsector is expected to have a workforce demand of approximately 20 lakhs by the end of financial year 2025.

The demand for talent for Equity research in India will be driven by:

- Rapid Growth of Financial Markets: India's financial markets are experiencing rapid growth due to economic expansion, increased investor participation, and regulatory reforms, leading to higher trading volumes and investment activities.
- Technological Advancements: Including fintech innovations like algorithmic trading and blockchain, are reshaping traditional business models and driving the need for professionals skilled in financial analytics.
- Regulatory Changes & Compliance: Stringent regulatory frameworks necessitate expertise in compliance, risk management, and governance, particularly in areas like AML, KYC, and data privacy regulations.
- Risk Management & Governance: Effective risk management practices are crucial for safeguarding financial institutions and investors against potential losses, requiring professionals skilled in developing risk models and implementing mitigation strategies.
- Investment Analysis & Portfolio Management: Increasing sophistication of investors has heightened demand for professionals adept in investment analysis and portfolio management, utilizing financial analytics to identify opportunities and optimize portfolios.
- Emerging Opportunities in Alternative Investments: Emerging opportunities in alternative investments such as private equity and real estate present challenges in valuation and risk assessment, necessitating expertise in data-driven due diligence and performance evaluation.
